

B1.2.2.1 Present Subjunctive Stems — Practice

Part A — Find the Subjunctive Stem

Give the yo form of the present indicative, then the subjunctive stem, for each verb.

1. hablar → yo _____ → stem _____
2. tener → yo _____ → stem _____
3. hacer → yo _____ → stem _____
4. conocer → yo _____ → stem _____
5. salir → yo _____ → stem _____
6. pensar → yo _____ → stem _____
7. poder → yo _____ → stem _____
8. decir → yo _____ → stem _____

Part B — True or False

Decide if each statement about subjunctive stems is true or false.

1. The subjunctive stem always comes from the infinitive.
2. Verbs with an irregular yo form (like tener → tengo) keep that irregularity in the subjunctive stem.
3. Stem-changing verbs like pensar follow the same yo-form shortcut.
4. Ser, ir, saber, estar, haber, and dar follow the yo-form shortcut just like other verbs.

Part C — Fix the Mistake

Each answer has an incorrect subjunctive stem. Identify the correct one and explain why.

1. hacer → stem: hac-
2. salir → stem: sal-
3. tener → stem: ten-

Answer Key

Part A

1. hablo → habl-
2. tengo → teng-
3. hago → hag-
4. conozco → conozc-
5. salgo → salg-
6. pienso → piens-
7. puedo → pued-
8. digo → dig-

Part B

1. False — it comes from the yo form of the present indicative, not the infinitive.
2. True.
3. True.
4. False — those six are exceptions and must be memorized separately (covered in the DISHES lesson).

Part C

1. Correct stem: hag- (from yo hago, not the infinitive hacer).
2. Correct stem: salg- (from yo salgo, the -go irregular yo form).
3. Correct stem: teng- (from yo tengo, the -go irregular yo form).
